

1870, ch. 414.

148. The sheriff, his deputies or any constable of the county, shall serve any process directed to him under the preceding section, and shall arrest any person who may be found violating the provisions of section 144, and shall seize all liquors he shall find kept in violation of the provisions thereof, and shall bring the parties offending before some justice of the peace of said district, who shall fine the party if convicted as hereinbefore directed, and the liquor seized shall be destroyed.

Ibid.

149. If any officer shall refuse or neglect to perform the duties required in the preceding section, he shall be adjudged to have violated the provisions of section 144, and shall be subject to the penalties imposed for such violation.

Ibid.

150. Any person may appeal from the judgment of the justice of the peace imposing any fine or imprisonment under section 146 to the circuit court for the county then next ensuing, unless there shall not be ten days intervening between the rendition of the judgment and the sitting of the said court, in which case the appeal shall stand for trial at the succeeding session of the court; provided, the party appealing shall enter into good and sufficient recognizance before the justice to prosecute his appeal with effect.

Ibid.

151. Any person arrested under section 144, who shall make oath that he believes that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had before any justice of the peace of the Tangier district, may have his case removed to a justice of Dame's Quarter district.

Ibid.

152. Any person who shall violate the provisions of section 144 shall be liable to indictment in the circuit court for Somerset county, or may be tried before a justice of the peace, but no person shall be twice prosecuted for the same offence.
